

wr ethical.

Senior Mortgage Advisor (self-employed)

A simple ad, to help you see if we'll work well together.

We have a simple aim - to help people buy and keep a home they love in the most ethical way possible.

Our fees are low, our reviews are exceptional, and we try to do right by everyone. So, we are growing fast (over 50% / year for the last 4 years) but working hard to maintain a supportive culture and family feel.

This year we have already had 2 skilled, caring and experienced advisers join our team, but we are on the lookout for more. If you are experienced, helping people is your priority, you want to be treated fairly and supported effectively, then let's talk, and see if we could work together.

We try and set everything up in a way to enable you to do what you do best – advising. So, we've got an exceptional admin team, who take up most of the load, efficient and continuously improving systems, referral partnerships for pretty much everything you can think of, and decent fee & commission splits.

We're open to whatever arrangement you want on providing leads, and able to support you financially through the tricky early months if you need it.

We're open and will share any details you like – you'll know from your own experience what really matters when it comes to finding the right firm. We hope you'll also see that by sticking 'Ethical' in our name, we are serious about doing things right.

We're Bristol based, and the team all come into the office 2 days a week. So, if you are close, we'd ask the same of you – it helps with the consistency, culture and support. We are looking to start other branches though, so if you are based within a couple of hours of us, and have the experience to work towards leading your own branch, then that's great too!

Sound interesting? Send an email with your covering letter and CV to paul.waterfall@wrethical.com